Amendment to the Articles of Association:

The Board of Directors of the Company proposes amendments to the Company's Articles of Association. The amendments are motivated by several groups of reasons. The Company does not exercise and does not intend to exercise some of activities currently registered within the scope of its subject of business, therefore they may be deleted from the Articles of Association. Other amendments concern provisions, which regulate remuneration of members of the Board of Directors and the Supervisory Board and they are intended to enable more flexible decision-making on specific rules for remuneration. It is also intended that the number of members of the Board of Directors shall decrease from 9 to 7, that the minimum yearly number of the Supervisory Board meetings shall be modified and that the authority of the General Meeting to resolve on the creation and use of the Reserve Fund shall be extended. Finally, a group of various particular amendments is proposed, which could be described as minor amendments in wording having no material impact; such amendments adjust, for example, minor misty places in the Articles of Association or, as the case may be, are driven by amended laws.
